January 14, 2004 LB 270

his directions from those people out there. You all will see certain things happen on certain bills and say, why they got to run out there and get their marching orders? You'll see amendment after amendment by Senator Foley, and you know it doesn't make me any difference because I'm always willing to talk about whatever you all want to talk about. We're going to be here 60 days. Now, if you all like Senator Foley's Catholic agenda, and even narrower than some Catholics, then fall into his hands and do it. But it just gives me the opportunity, when I address groups, write articles and do my cable program, to point out what the Catholics can get this Legislature to do and then demonstrate it. So I surely don't care. I think some of my Catholic colleagues might be put in a bind because they are afraid that Senator Foley and Bishop Bruskewitz will say, he's not pro-life, she's not pro-life, get them out. And they're intimidated by that. They know it. I don't intimidate like that. It's my mind power. It's me. I don't say the ghosts and goblins are going to get you. I don't say I'm going to get the church to bring out its wicked minions to get you. I don't say I might have to enlist the aid of some pedophile priests to get you. It's what I do, me and you. But those who need a lot of company, who have that mobbing instinct, are brave when they've got that crowd around them. But when they have to stand alone, they fold because they haven't got it. I don't care how you vote on Senator Foley's amendment. I know what I'm going to do, depending on how you vote, but at this moment there's something else I intend to do, Mr. President. I intend to yield some time to Senator Hartnett.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Hartnett.

SENATOR HARTNETT: Thank you, Senator Chambers. In the time that I've been in the body, and I've been here quite awhile, I've not had many bills in front of the Judiciary Committee, but I guess I think we need to pass LB 270. And I guess I trust the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee that we need to adopt his amendment, AM2019, and I think we're, with Senator Foley's amendment, I think we're spoiling the pot. And so I guess I'm simply rising to simply say that I think we, in my mind, I think I trust the work that was done with the majority of people of the Judiciary Committee. We need to reject Senator Foley's
